About the Visual Effects Society

Since its inception in 1997, the Visual Effects Society has grown into a thriving global honorary society and one of the entertainment industry's most respected organizations. Now in our 26th year, we are proud to keep shining a light on outstanding visual effects artistry and innovation worldwide and lift up the creative talent who never cease to inspire us all.

The VES is committed to advancing the arts, science and application of visual effects, supporting our diverse membership and serving as an integral resource to the dynamic worldwide industry. As the entertainment industry's only official organization representing the extended global community of visual effects practitioners, our membership includes supervisors, artists, producers, technology developers, educators, compositors, and studio executives. VES' nearly 4,500 members in 45 countries contribute to all areas of entertainment – film, television, commercials, animation, music videos, games and new media.

Our international presence gets stronger every year – and so much of that is because of our regional VFX communities and all that they do to advance the Society and bring people together. We now have 14 Sections in: Australia, the San Francisco Bay Area, France, Georgia (US), Germany, India, London, Los Angeles, Montréal, New York, New Zealand, Toronto, Vancouver and Washington State.

The prestigious VES Awards celebrates the visionaries and risk-takers who push the boundaries of what's possible in visual storytelling. As we gather for the 21st Annual VES Awards, we are excited to host this platform to recognize exemplary VFX work from the last year. Dedicated volunteers from the VES Awards Committee oversee the awards process, from constant refinement of the rules and procedures to vetting hundreds of submissions and coordinating member-driven nominations events around the world.

Visual Effects Society Chair and Executive Director

Welcome to the 21st Annual VES Awards! We're thrilled that you're joining us as we showcase and honor outstanding visual effects artistry and innovation from around the world – and the talented practitioners who bring this work to life.

The Society has grown in ways beyond our expectations. Our thriving global community now boasts almost 4,500 members in 45 countries. And our signature Awards Show has evolved into a highly prestigious annual celebration of extraordinary visual storytellers who keep pushing the boundaries of entertainment.

Tonight, we shine a light on the visual effects artists, producers, creators and innovators who have graced us with amazing stories and immersive experiences that were once unimaginable. Congratulations to all of our nominees and our special honorees – VES Lifetime Achievement Award recipient Gale Anne Hurd and VES Board of Directors Award recipient Eric Roth.

On behalf of the VES Board of Directors, staff and our members and colleagues worldwide, thank you for your enthusiastic support. We hope you have a wonderful time marveling at the best in visual effects! On with the show...

Host Patton Oswalt

Award-winning actor/comedian/author Patton Oswalt is host of the 21st Annual VES Awards. This marks Oswalt's 10th engagement as host of the prestigious annual celebration that recognizes outstanding visual effects artistry and innovation.

Oswalt recently co-created M.O.D.O.K., a Marvel stop-motion animated adult comedy series for Hulu, as well as voices the titular character and co-starred on the NBC Universal comedy A.P. Bio. In 2020, Oswalt's Emmy nominated Netflix special I Love Everything was widely applauded and he received a Grammy nomination for his comedy album of the same name.

In 2017, he received Grammy and Emmy nominations for his album and Netflix special Annihilation. In 2016, he won the Emmy for 'Outstanding Writing for a Variety Special' for his sixth comedy special Talking for Clapping and a Grammy Award in 2017 for his comedy album. # VES Lifetime Achievement Award Recipient Acclaimed Producer-Writer Gale Anne Hurd

Gale Anne Hurd is one of the entertainment industry's most prolific and esteemed producers of Academy Award-winning films and Emmy Award-winning programs that shatter both box office and ratings records. After rising from Roger Corman's executive assistant to head of marketing at his company, New World Pictures, Hurd's producing career took off when she co-wrote and produced The Terminator. Her unprecedented success was quickly followed by Aliens, which received seven nominations and two Academy Awards, and additional Academy Award-winning films such as The Abyss, Terminator 2: Judgment Day, The Ghost and the Darkness and Armageddon. In addition, both Armageddon and Terminator 2 were the number one films at the worldwide box office in their years of release.

When Hurd entered the television industry, she met similar success. Hurd's record-breaking AMC program, The Walking Dead, twice honored by the American Film Institute as a "Top 10" TV program, is the first series in history to reign as the most watched television drama in the coveted 18 to 49-year-old demographic for six consecutive years, as well as the highest rated cable series on television for seven consecutive years. Hurd's most recent feature, the documentary The YouTube Effect, premiered at the Tribeca Film Festival in 2022 and her anthology series, Lore, based on the popular historical podcast of the same name, is currently streaming its first and second seasons on Amazon. Hurd was awarded the prestigious David O. Selznick Award for Achievement in Motion Pictures by the Producers Guild, has been inducted into the International Women's Forum Hall of Fame and has a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

VES Board of Directors Award Recipient Distinguished Former VES Executive Director Eric Roth

For nearly two decades in the role of VES Executive Director, Eric Roth had a front row seat to the dynamic global VFX industry, played a major role in the Society's tremendous growth, and helmed the organization to reach its milestone 25th Anniversary in 2022.

Under his watch, the Society grew from a primarily California-centric organization of about 750 people to a global honorary Society with nearly 4,500 members in 45 countries and 14 regional Sections worldwide. It launched the award-winning signature VFX Voice magazine, created three editions of the acclaimed VES Handbook of Visual Effects, produced 17 years of the VES Awards, hosted the annual VES Honors and Hall of Fame programs, and delivered a robust roster of educational programs. Volunteer Committees did vital work in service to the membership and the worldwide VFX community, including creating industry-leading mental health benefits, mentoring programs, diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives, forwardlooking technology projects, a video archive of VFX luminaries and a soonto-be-realized VFX digital museum, and exclusive opportunities that foster networking, education and professional development.

Roth led the Society through the global pandemic and instituted new programs and initiatives to address the unprecedented impact on the industry – while keeping the membership closely tethered. And importantly, he helped the organization create and amplify its powerful voice on behalf of the membership and the industry and serve as a convenor on topics of vital importance, from the state of the ever-evolving business to emerging technologies.
