Already busy with the filming of Star Wars VII, JJ Abrams is already receiving great prizes!

Rest assured, this is not for Star Wars which is seen anything yet that the director will soon be rewarded but for the rest of his career. In fact, the Visual Effects Society decided to award its Visionary Award to JJ Abrams in his 2014 edition to be held on February 4. This award will seek to honor the innovations of the director in terms of visual effects (the Jens Flare do you want, here!) with these many films as the last two Star Trek or Super 8

. Last year, the director Alfonso Cuarón , who won the trophy for his film freshly landed in American theaters, Gravity . Source: Deadline
